December 31st, 2014 - Final tuning particularly by racers is often performed under sail with enough wind to heel the boat 15 to 20 degrees Note that rig tension involves a compromise between perfect rigidity and the structural limitations of the hull Before performing final tuning consult the boat s builder or designer or a professional rigger'

July 27th, 2008 - Are there any inherent tuning differences between one designs and bigger boats The great thing about one design sailing is the boats are equal and speed differences come from the sailors sails and rig adjustments However this means one design boats need more tuning changes than larger boats'
