June 4th, 2020 - but cash is only an example of a more general problem anyone who has financial assets invested in a way that the nominal return does not keep up with inflation will tend to suffer from inflation for example if a person has money in a bank account that pays 4 interest but inflation rises to 5 then the real rate of return for the money invested in that bank account is negative 1'
