'Modeling the Force From a Fan WIRED

September 7th, 2012 - Modeling the Force From a Fan I am obsessed with helicopters You probably already knew that Of course this isn't really true As the cart goes faster it won't push the air as hard Also as it goes faster there would be an air resistance force In this case the cart is going pretty slowly so it shouldn't matter too much'

'Lab 2 Newton's Second Law Bucknell University

December 17th, 2019 - accelerations are actually vectors so that Newton's Second Law is more correctly given by $F = ma$? We can check on the vector nature of force by adjusting the angle of the fan Since the cart can only move along the track due to the grooves on the track if we change the angle of the fan we are changing the amount of force in the'
